PROJECTS

"ProDoc: AI-Powered Virtual Health Care"

B. Tech (CSE) Final Year Project (2021 - 2025)

- To create an AI-powered system that analyzes patient health reports, predicts diseases, and suggests precautions and prescriptions. It not only monitors real-time health parameters such as heart rate and blood pressure, integrating with hospital system to enhance diagnostic accuracy, but also predict future vitals biased on current treatment, estimate recovery timeline, and suggest future precautions. The system enhances healthcare efficiency, provides timely alerts, and facilitates secure communication between patients, attender and doctors.

"Neura-Sec: Cyber Vulnerability Scanner and Awareness Portal"

DCA Final Year Project (2020 - 2021)

- Developed an advanced cybersecurity web application that helps users identify and mitigate digital security threats. The platform includes tools such as website vulnerability scanners, password strength checkers, and phishing URL detectors, offering real-time vulnerability reports and fixes. Integrated interactive tutorials on common web vulnerabilities (XSS, CSRF, SQL Injection) and secure coding practices.

"Electro-Fortres"

ITI (Electrical) Final Year Project (2018 - 2020)

- This project demonstrates how a room can be secured using advanced electrical components. The room is protected by outer touch-sensor fencing with body sensors and is constructed with double-layered heavy metal for enhanced security. An electromagnetic block lock at the door automatically activates during an alarm or if weight is detected on the floor. A human sensor detects any movement inside the room. Additionally, touching the safe triggers a 90-volt shock to incapacitate intruders. The system is powered by a basement generator, ensuring it cannot be disabled externally.
